Letter from the Head of the Department

According to Acharya Charaka, six primary qualities are necessary for proper obtainment of knowledge. They are Cognition, Argument, Science, Memory, Alacrity and Activity. Somehow this ancient thought has influenced our current educational policy and procedure in a broader way. So, it is clearly inferred that only basic classroom-oriented teaching procedure is not sufficient in our present academic system. If we try to analyze the thought from Charakasamhita, we will find that after collecting information from various sources, students need to acquire some more skill to comprehend as well as to apply particular cognition in practical life. For that reason, as sense of argument to build a proper logical structure is required; similarly, use of science or memory is also needed. For the application of knowledge, alacrity, and activity these two attributes are important. Hence to form a proper academic environment in our department, we have adopted some activities in regular basis in our curriculum. A detailed report of those activities is hereby presented in our departmental newsletter namely संस्कृतबाता.

From the behalf of our department, I like to congratulate as well as to convey my heartfelt wishes to all.

Best Wishes.

Departmental Highlights

In this academic year (2023-2024), a departmental meeting was called at the beginning of the session to discuss the curriculum of the syllabus of the University and to evaluate our previous experiences. At that meeting fresh modalities were chalked out for the upcoming academic year. We have taken some decisions to enthusiasm our students through various alternatives to arrange on Gender talks along with Toppers' Programme on a yearly basis. We have conducted an Add-On course about Roots On Medicine -A Journey through Sanskrit and Botany and it was quite a successful one. As we must adopt the new educational policy prescribed by the UGC, so we have to form some interesting methods in future to bring back our students' attention, enthusiasm and engagement to their respective courses. With the heartfelt support of all faculty members of our department, we sincerely wish to continue the process in future.

Competition on Gender Talk

Manisha Banerjee, Sabina Khatun and Dolon Chand, the students of Sanskrit Department, had participated in the Competition on 'Gender Talk' organized by IIC and Women Cell of Durgapur Govt. College on 9th December, 2024. Our students were extremely excited and happy to make a talk with her regarding her struggle to success. In future, we have a plan to continue this kind of interaction for the benefit of our students.

- Participation in FOOD-FESTIVAL

The 20th of December, 2024, witnessed the Department of Sanskrit actively participating in the college's Food Festival celebration. Students from our department participated with another department of our college which was organized by the College. The department's students' enthusiastic participation undoubtedly enriched the college's Food Festival celebrations. The event served as a platform for them to experience to connect with their peers from other departments, and celebrate with others.
